

Sumter County Emergency Management
Weather Briefing

System Name: warm/cold front Date: February 12, 2008 Time: 10:30 am Next Briefing: As Needed

- |  |  |  |
|--|--|--|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Tropical Depression | <input type="checkbox"/> Tornado Watch   | <input type="checkbox"/> Severe Cold/Freeze Warning        |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Tropical Storm      | <input type="checkbox"/> Tornado Warning | <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Severe Weather Warning |

Hurricane  Cat 1 (74-95)  Cat 2 (96-110)  Cat 3 (111-130)  Cat 4 (131-155)  Cat 5 (>155)

System Location: xxx miles x of xxxxxxx

Sustained Force Winds Extend: xxx miles from the core

Barometric Pressure: xxx millibars and is xxxxxxx

Storm is moving x at xx MPH

Intensity Forecast:

- Intensifying
 Maintaining Strength
 Weakening

- Currently:
- No threat to our area at this time  This is the last advisory
 No status change at this time. Updated information only
 Status Change - See Activation Level Below

CURRENT EOC ACTIVATION LEVEL:

- Level 3, Normal daily operations
 Level 2, Partial Activation. The following ESFs are activated: xxx,xxx,xxx
 Level 1, Full Activation. All ESFs are activated.

WATCHES AND WARNINGS:

None at this time

SHELTER INFORMATION:

None at this time

A warm front moving up from the South will pass through the state between approximately 11:00pm tonight and 03:00am tomorrow morning. A cold front from the North will pass through the state between 03:00am tomorrow and 09:00am tomorrow morning. Our worst weather is predicted between 04:00am and 06:00am tomorrow morning. This event will bring high winds, 1-2 inches of rain and the possibility of an isolated tornado.

---